

STEM Program inspires the next generation

Building on the successful launch in April, our project management partner Johnstaff recently held a second STEM program, as part of the redevelopment at Liverpool Hospital.

A group of enthusiastic Year 9 students from Liverpool Girls High School had the opportunity to listen to our experienced and engaging leaders talk about their careers in STEM and the construction industry.

The students were also thrilled to see the sight of a bustling construction site as they were taken on a tour by project builder Lendlease.

Johnstaff was joined by guest speakers from Health Infrastructure, Lendlease, Taylor Thomas Whitting, and Stantec who enlightened the students about sustainability and engineering.

They shared valuable insights on various career paths and their diverse roles such as designing crash test dummies, understanding the behaviour of fire truck engines in fire situations, and creating slash-proof armour.

The session gave the students a glimpse into the exciting world of engineering, and they are eagerly looking forward to returning in three months for session three!

Connecting with our diverse communities in various languages

Engaging with local community groups and organisations is a monthly highlight for the redevelopment project team. We value hearing from community members and addressing any questions they may have regarding the exciting hospital redevelopment.

Members of the NSW Refugee Health Service and STARTRTS (NSW Service for the Treatment and Rehabilitation of Torture and Trauma) recently had the opportunity to be informed and inspired about the project, and received flyers, brochures and information sheets to share with their members and contacts. We have also translated these materials into languages such as Assyrian, Arabic, Khmer, Simplified Chinese, Traditional Chinese and Vietnamese to support our diverse community.

Any multicultural organisation who would like to learn more about the LHAP or receive a translated communication pack can email: SWSLHD-LHAP@health.nsw.gov.au or call 8738 6670.

We encourage everyone including you, to help us spread the word about the hospital's exciting future by sharing our materials across your media channels. Thanks for your support!
