Introducing Celsus, our newly named tower crane!

More than 100 primary school students entered our multi-storey car park Name the Crane competition, which saw many creative name suggestions submitted on beautifully coloured-in entry forms – making it a tough decision for our judges!

The winning entries were determined by a panel of hospital and project management staff, with scoring based on the creativity of the suggested name and the meaning behind it.

A crane naming ceremony was recently held to celebrate the winner and finalists, with the crane's name now displayed proudly for all to see.

Congratulations to Charlotte (aged 10) from West Hoxton who cleverly chose the winning name CELSUS – a Latin word meaning tall or lofty. Celsus was also the name of one of the greatest Ancient Roman medical writers.

Charlotte was awarded with an iPad for her efforts, along with a replica of the name flag.

Yvette (aged 11) won second prize, receiving a $100 voucher, and equal third winners Marcus and Malcolm (both aged 10) received $50 vouchers.

All competition prizes were generously donated by multi-storey car park project builders ADCO Constructions Pty Ltd.

A striking red name flag is now flown a splendid 40-metres high above the multi-storey car park construction site at the end of each work day.

Well done to everyone who entered the competition and congratulations to all of our finalists!

Have you seen our first project video?

Throughout 2021, we'll be keeping you updated on progress of the redevelopment project with a series of videos.

Be sure to check out the first video which highlights project milestones to date, showcases the new Liverpool Education and Research Centre and newly created spaces within the hospital, and provides an insight into what's to come on project completion in 2026. View it on YouTube at <https://youtu.be/qT8FBZHzCNk>

Toolman Ted celebrated the first slab pour with Liverpool Hospital General Manager, Karen McMenamín and LHAP Director, Karinn Marrone

First concrete pour a solid start

An exciting project milestone has been reached with the first slab pour of the new $50 million multi-storey car park.

The initial pour was the first of five that will create the 3450 square metre ground floor slab, and one of more than 30 slab pours scheduled this year to build the seven-storey structure.

Liverpool Hospital General Manager Karen McMenamín said the first slab pour followed the arrival of the site's first tower crane last month and was an exciting milestone in delivery of the new multi-storey car park.

"I'm thrilled that staff and patients at Liverpool Hospital will soon see the multi-storey car park rising from the ground," Ms McMenamín said.

"On completion of the car park in early 2022, an additional 500 parking spaces will be available across the hospital campus, helping to improve accessibility to health services for patients and their families."

Meet Melissa and Daniel...

Melissa: Nurse Manager

Daniel: Acting Clinical Nurse Consultant

In recognition of International Nurses Day, which is celebrated around the world every 12 May, we wanted to acknowledge some of the nurses who are helping to shape the hospital's future Emergency Department (ED).

Melissa and Daniel have many years of nursing experience at Liverpool Hospital and are currently in Nursing Management positions within the hospital's busy ED.

As part of the redevelopment project, the ED will be transformed and expanded, which involves an extensive consultation and design process.

Both Melissa and Daniel have been engaged in the design development journey for the future ED since the early stages of planning for the redevelopment three years ago, and have been directly involved in planning the enhanced future facility that will benefit patients, visitors and staff.

"We have enjoyed working on how to deliver the best nursing care for patients, families and carers in the future ED, and are working closely together to develop new improvements in the area."

– Daniel

"Nursing is a great career that offers many opportunities in various streams – clinical, specialist, education and management. As a Nursing Manager, it's important to be part of future planning for both the hospital and operations across the district."

– Melissa
